The list of names, eligible to membership of the Northeastern Faculty Wives Club, issued in September included nine new ones.

Letters were sent to each one telling the object of the club and inviting her to join.

The names on this list totaled 115.

In November another list was issued showing some changes.

Report of Corresponding Secretary of Northeastern University Faculty Women's Club for year 1943-1946.

It is our annual meeting and now the time has come for officers to tell the Club about the work they've done.

Aside from monthly notices of one hundred fifty or more,
the correspondence was not heavy
of that you can be sure.

The only thing that bothered me was sometimes it was quite hard for me in all I was supposed to say on such a little card.

A total of nearly two thousand pieces of mail were sent in the two years I have served you.
And the time was gladly spent.

My work was not spectacular
And a little thing to do
But it always was my pleasure to make a date with you.

Inasmuch as it was the purpose of this committee to provide programs that would give the greatest amount of enjoyment to the greatest number of members, we requested opinions and suggestions from the members of the club to this end. In response to our appeal the following suggestions were offered:

1. That we request members of the Faculty of Northeastern University to speak to us from time to time.

2. That the Club be provided with some project in connection with War Service work.

3. That we provide programs of educational value.

4. That we have a program of an informal nature that would be solely for the purpose of a sociable "get-together" for the members of the club.

We have tried insofar as possible to provide the club with a variety of programs which would cover all these suggestions, with the following result:

The program in October was devoted to MUSIC, when we had the pleasure of hearing Dean William C. White in a lecture on Gilbert and Sullivan, illustrated with selections from his fine library of Gilbert and Sullivan records.

November was Drama Day, when a group of talented dramatic readers from Needham presented an oral reading of the three-act play, "Papa is All", a comedy based on the life of the Pennsylvania Dutch people.

In December a program devoted to ART in connection with the Christmas theme was planned, when Professor Meserve was to have lectured on world-famous works of art illustrated with slides showing famous paintings of the Madonnas and scenes of the Nativity. But owing to the fact that this was a week of vacation at the University this meeting was cancelled.

At our meeting in January we were privileged to hear Rep. Leslie B. Cutler of the Massachusetts State Legislature speak to us on "A Day in the House", giving us information concerning current bills of interest to women in particular, now in process of legislation. This talk was enthusiastically received and the members showed their interest by asking questions and engaging in discussion with Mrs. Cutler.

In February, in spite of stormy weather, we enjoyed our "purely sociable" program, when Mrs. Johnson, Chairman of the Hospitality Committee, assisted this program Chairman in conducting a game which we called "Swapsie", wherein the winners exchanged prizes that had been brought in by the members. At this meeting, also, Comic Magazines and small twenty-five cent paper covered books were brought in by the members for donation to the Chelsea Naval hospital to be enjoyed by wounded Naval patients there. These were delivered to the hospital and very gratefully received by the welfare officer Ensign Veazie.

The meeting in March was LITERATURE day when Mrs. Marion T. Rudkin of Beverly again gave us a very dramatic and interesting review of the current books, Fiction and Non-Fiction.

For the program after the Annual Meeting today, we will have the pleasure of Miss Christine Johnson, daughter of Professor C. David Johnson of the Northeastern Faculty, tell us about "Beauty in Rocks". Miss Johnson's hobby is Geology and she has specimens of interesting rocks from all over the world which she will exhibit.

Further in connection with War Service work, fourteen U. S. O. scrap books, issued by the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs for distribution to hospitals and sick bays on the ships in the armed forces, were bought by members of the Club, to be filled and returned. To date four of these books have been completed and returned, and it is hoped that the remainder will be returned today when they will be delivered to Federation headquarters by this chairman. Also, at this meeting, there may be further contribution of Comic magazines and Pocket-Edition books for the Chelsea Naval hospital. Both of these projects are very worth while in that they provide a great amount of enjoyment and comfort for our men in the service who have done so much for us.

In closing, it is the wish of this chairman to express her sincere appreciation and thanks to the members of the Club for their cooperation in the way of helpful suggestions and participation in the programs. Also, very especially, my very sincere appreciation to our President, Mrs. Churchill, for her cooperation, inspiration and encouragement in this work.

Respectfully submitted,
Priscilla E. Skinner, Chairman Program Committee.
